At GrainCorp, we want to increase the diversity of our workforce because we know that this will give us the range of different thinking, perspectives and ideas that create the innovation we need to drive better business results. We also know that – in order to attract and empower people from diverse backgrounds with different skills, strengths and experiences to reach their full potential and deliver better business outcomes – we need to ensure we have a work environment where everyone feels included, everyone has the opportunity to reach their full potential and everyone can work together to deliver the best outcomes for our customers, shareholders and the communities in which we live. To support this commitment and provide a framework for improved diversity, inclusion and equity a number of strategies and policies were in place during the reporting period, of which the following were key:

1. GrainCorp's Diversity & Inclusion Strategy was revised to focus on building a culture of inclusion that encourages the diversity of thought and collaboration that will help to drive innovation and business results. This will be achieved by (a) strengthening the inclusivity of our workplace so our people can be their authentic self, perform at their best and make a unique and valued contribution to our combined success; (b) leveraging diversity of thought, improved understanding and flexibility to increase productivity, engagement and positively impact business outcomes; and (c) equip leaders with the ability to manage diversity, be accountable, measure results, refine approaches on the basis of such data, and institutionalise a culture of inclusion. We also recognise that, to achieve true inclusion, we need to identify and address barriers relating to five under-represented groups at GrainCorp. Specifically, we are looking to improve gender equality and balance; cultural and linguistic diversity; the support we provide our people to optimise your career at various life stages; diversity of sexual orientation (LGBTI+); and accessible and inclusive employment for people with disabilities.

2. GrainCorp’s Equity and Diversity and Preventing Harassment in the Workplace Policy which reinforces GrainCorp’s commitment to ensuring that decisions in relation to recruitment, training, work allocation, remuneration, promotions and leave arrangements are fair and non-discriminatory.

In regards to specific people practices, we continued a number of ongoing activities which support our aim of improving the diversity of our workforce and further developing our inclusive culture. These activities include:

1. Recruitment - We ensure the delivery of best practice recruitment processes by monitoring the diversity in our recruitment cycle on a quarterly basis across the number of female applicants, screened, shortlisted, interviewed and selected for roles. Female Hiring Managers are involved throughout the entire recruitment process and request female candidates to be shortlisted by external recruitment agencies. Where we engage an external recruitment agency, we evaluate their specific capability in regards to all aspects of diversity & inclusion - including policy, action plans, training, reporting and monitoring – on an ongoing basis.
2. Performance Management - GrainCorp’s Performance Management Procedure provides a framework for ensuring fairness and transparency in the management and rating of employee performance. Mechanisms, such as the calibration process, limit the impact of any potential gender bias in the rating outcomes for individual employees.
3. Talent Management (identification, retention, promotions and succession planning) - A number of mechanisms, such as the use of a behavioural framework and the calibration process, limit the impact of any potential gender bias in GrainCorp’s talent identification process. We then invest in our identified talent through a number of leadership and talent programs in which we target 50% female representation. For example, our global Graduate Program had a 75% female representation in the 2016 intake. We continue to focus on the development of women in operational and leadership roles through individual development plans and mentoring. We also monitor the number of women in leadership roles as a percentage of overall leaders on an ongoing basis.
4. Leadership accountability for gender equality – For the FY17 performance year, GrainCorp introduced a stretch KPI target for our Executive Leaders which aims to improve the gender balance of our senior leadership group.

Gender pay equity continues to be a focus at GrainCorp and is monitored and addressed throughout the employment lifecycle. GrainCorp's remuneration is structured on fixed and variable pay framework. Fixed remuneration continues to be determined using an internationally recognised job evaluation methodology which does not differentiate between genders. Our reward strategy (variable pay) is modeled on a market based approach which again limits any potential gender bias. We differentiate total compensation based on relative performance of the organisation and individuals and link compensation awards to performance factors which include performance of GrainCorp as a whole, the relevant business unit and individual achievements. As such, GrainCorp's remuneration framework continues to ensure fairness and equity across the organisation for both genders.

Gender equality indicator 4: Flexible working and support for employees with family and caring responsibilities

This indicator will enable the collection and use of information from relevant employers about the availability and utility of employment terms, conditions and practices relating to flexible working arrangements for employees and to working arrangements supporting employees with family or caring responsibilities. The achievement of this goal is fundamental to gender equality and to maximising Australia's skilled workforce.

GrainCorp is currently in the process of reviewing our approach to flexible working arrangements to determine if our current approach is working and meets the future needs of the organisation and, if not, what changes are required.

14.4 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to gender equality indicator 4, please do so below:

We continue to offer paid parental leave of 8 weeks on top of legislated requirements. In addition, we offer a return to work bonus of the equivalent of 6 weeks' pay. We also offer employees 8 weeks paid adoption leave, at the time of placement of the child. An employee seeking to adopt a child is entitled to up to two days unpaid leave, as required by the employee, to attend any compulsory interviews or examinations necessary as part of the adoption process. Superannuation is also paid on all forms of paid parental leave.

In regards to employees experiencing domestic violence, GrainCorp would, at a minimum, provide the employee unpaid leave. In addition, GrainCorp exercises discretion on a case-by-case basis in relation to providing access to other forms of leave including paid leave (such as annual leave and/or carer's leave).

GrainCorp recognises that our people have a range of priorities both within and outside the workplace, and that achieving a healthy balance is important. GrainCorp's Flexible Work Policy and Procedure demonstrate our commitment to providing employees with flexible working arrangements where possible. In addition to terms, conditions and practices outlined in Q14, we have additional practices in place to support flexible working arrangements, employees experiencing domestic violence and those with carers responsibilities which include:

- a) Core meeting hours between 10am and 4pm, Monday to Friday;
- b) Provision of up to 2 weeks unpaid leave, where an employee has exhausted their paid personal or carer's leave balance and is required to care for immediate family or household members;
- c) Extended parental leave of up to a further 52wks following the initial period (where reasonable);
- d) Leave without pay is available for special circumstances where employees have more than 12months continuing service; and
- e) Our Employee Assistance Program (EAP).

Ongoing consultation with the GrainCorp HR team aims to identify opportunities and risks relating to diversity and inclusion as well as informing strategy development, progress of initiatives and adherence to policies relating to Diversity & Inclusion. This process is informed by the consultation General Managers of HR and HR Business Partners undertake with leaders, managers and employees across the business through mechanisms such as leadership team meetings, one-on-one discussions, hiring and promotion processes, talent management discussions and exit interviews.

In addition, during the reporting period:

- a) Employees were invited to participate in several focus groups looking at the culture and conditions required to support diverse employees and identify any changes required at GrainCorp. These focus groups included men and women at all levels of the organisation and from all Business Units and looked at how we better support women, people with caring responsibilities, people who take extended leave from the work place and people in late stages of their careers.
- b) The 2016 employee engagement survey results were analysed to determine the significant differences in favourable responses between men and women (and other demographic groups) in terms of overall engagement, autonomy, customer focus, innovation, work-life balance and inclusion. The drivers and reinforcers of these differences were then further investigated through discussions with leaders and employees undertaken by members of our Diversity & Inclusion Committee and HR team and, where relevant, were the subject of questioning during the aforementioned focus groups.

The outcomes of the analysis of our engagement survey data and focus groups are currently being socialised with a view to implementing changes in response to this feedback during FY18.
