Harvest comments:

- Significant weather events have impacted operations across southern New South Wales and Victoria
- It is too early to comment on any damage to the remaining crop however quality will be monitored closely over the coming days
- The majority of our New South Wales and Victorian sites will reopen as harvesting recommences
- While some vertical storage (silos) were able to operate in between weather events, the majority of our receival sites remained closed throughout Thursday and Friday
- We would like to acknowledge the hard work of growers and our operations team to deliver and receive as much as possible before the weather arrived
- Winter harvest in Northern NSW and Queensland continues to wind down

Please note: total represents new crop tonnes received at GrainCorp sites including some deliveries received prior to 30 September 2017
